

SCHOOL SYSTEMS' SOFTWARE MAPS

The following software maps originated from the white paper, "Schools and software: What's now and what's next," which analyzes software usage across 30 small- to medium-sized school systems. The maps attempt to illustrate the range of software programs these school systems are using, as well as each school system's general approach to software integration. The information captured is self-reported by the school systems at a point in time. The maps may not reflect software used in individual schools or classrooms that is not centrally procured. In some cases, the maps have been simplified to make them easier to view.
